Margaret Citvia Sage, until she reached middle life had only the meager income of a school teacher and then in a day she found herself mistires of one of the greatest fortunes in America. Her early dars were devoted to scraping together enough money to give herself a fair education, the science of giving money away. During the last seven years of complete stewardship of the $70,000,000 left by her husband, Barsell Sage, she returned nearly $35,000,000 to the public by systematic phillustropies.

"My experience has taught me," she had said recently, "that successful people are those who take what comes to hand, and, if it be small, wait and work for something better. The root of fallure lies often in the thought that you can do but one thing and must do that or nothing."

This practical phillopphy developed when sho was a girl in Syracuse, N. Y. her birtiplace. Her tather, Joseph Sicoum, was so reduced in circumstances by the panic of 1837 that the daughter, at the age of only nice years was chiliged to help in the up-keep of the household. At the sge of 16 she started for Mount Holyoke college expecting to work her was for four years by housework, but sickness.

ingly must be begun at once.

Ghent's Fall imminent—

In Belgium, the fall of Ghent is imminent, for the Belgians, French, British and Americans are rapidly moving abead. The Scheidt has been crossed at Weiden, southwest of Ghent, while the Belgians are moving toward the Scheidt northeast of the city. This navance, if continued threatens the whole German area in France, since its retreat eastward through Sedan and Montmedy seems about to be sut off.

German Hordes Beitrat—

Seean and Montmedy seems about to be cut off.

German Hordes Retreat—
East of the Meuse the roads are crowded with retreating Gormans, it is reported. This indicates a retirement to the Briev defences, north of Meuse, but the magnitude of the retrograd movement has not been exactly determined.

Italian and allied forces have occupied Trent and have landed at Triente.

Udine, from which Gen. Cadorna was driven in October, 1917, has been recaptured from the Austrians. On every foot the Austrian resistance seemed to collapse during the two days prior to the signing of the arminice terms. Beingrade, the capital of Servia, has been reconstructed from the trians. The city was taken on December 2, 1914.
